

The Rebel Alliance

Memorandum

To: Leia Organa

From: Connor Dalton

Dear Princess Leia, a major mistake has been made by putting me in charge of your security as I only have a very basic knowledge of how to use a command line prompt.

With nothing but a spreadsheet and a dream I set out to move files and failed at that. I tried to do some research, but I could not find enough information, so I ended up deleting the file for the rebel fleets' locations to make sure that the empire couldn't get it. We don't know where they are, but neither will they.

I also noticed that you did not have a user in the system, so I added you with administrative permissions. Essentially you can go into the command line and change much of what you want with those permissions. I would highly recommend getting someone more qualified than me.

I would also recommend just getting a new system. Continuing to use a system that is already compromised is not a great idea, as I am just fighting a losing battle. The Empire is strong, and I would rather not have to fight in their home turf.

I did learn how to see which users have logged in and was able to catch that Han Solo had been taken over, so I deleted him and added the real him back to the files. I would be able to add other leaders and groups to the files, however given my past of deleting things that we need, I probably shouldn't be the one to do it.

All in all, I recommend a new system, new strategies, and a new head of Cyber. If any of these are unavailable, I would recommend switching to paper and pencil to communicate.